When I used the copilot to generate multiple moving shapes it created a simple code that was definitely more organized than what I had created and gave me a better idea on how i can organize my codes. I went with two shapes of the same design while the copilot used two different shapes which in all honesty would've made it easier for me to just do the same. I had a lot of difficulties in trying to separate the two codes for the shape, but came down to making it into one.
